DAY AND NIGHT, FULL LEASED
WIRE TELEGRAPHIC SERVICEURGES LENIENCY
BE SHOWN YOUTH
BY JUDGE KLEIN*Jellison in Plea for Roy Six—
May Be Given Suspended Sentence.

Following a recommendation for clemency by Pros. Atty. F. O. Jellison in the case of Roy Six, the 17 year old hold-up boy, Judge Fred C. Klein, superior court No. 2, intimated that he might give the youth a suspended sentence. Six entered a plea of guilty to a charge preferred by the state, and after Jellison had presented the facts in the case, the court began to question the youth.

"What would you do if I should give you a suspended sentence?" Judge Klein asked the boy.

"I would go to Mishawaka, where my brother would find employment for me," was the prompt reply.

Six, who is not yet 17 years old, is the youth who held up Miss Irene Johnson, teacher in the Ruple school on the outskirts of South Bend on Wednesday morning, but who was very shortly afterwards apprehended by a farmer posse organized immediately after the holdup became known. Pros. Floyd Jellison filed an affidavit against the youth, and had him brought before Judge Klein Thursday afternoon.

Confesses to Court.

The youthful hold-up man confessed to the court that he had held up Miss Johnson with the intent of taking whatever money or jewels she had, but that when she stated she had neither money nor jewels, he left her without further question.

He told the court that his weapon was not a revolver, but merely a piece of metal held in his hand in such a manner as to give the impression that it was a revolver.

Young Six was questioned by Judge Klein on his brother's environment, and it was brought out that the boy's mother was in California and that there was no home for him at his father's, and because he was unable to secure work, he felt he should not allow himself to "spend" on his brother.

Tuesday night the youth slept in an unfinished building in Mishawaka, and had had no supper and secured no breakfast Wednesday morning.

On Wednesday morning he came to South Bend and tried to get a job at a local factory, but failing to get out toward Lakeview, where the idea of the hold-up to get money to get something to eat came to him, he stated.

Pros. Jellison brought out the facts of the case by summing up that Six had been "knocked from pillar to post, and the parents were really responsible."

The youth's straightforward answering of questions asked by Judge Klein confirmed the impression Pros. Jellison expressed in stating the youth was not a criminal in the strict sense of the word. The boy told that he had been truant at school some years ago, and gave as reason the fact that he had been set back about three grades so that he was with boys a great deal younger than he was.

Urges Leniency.

Judge Klein went into detail to find out just what the boy's environment was and when he asked Six what he would do if he was let go on a suspended sentence, and the accused told of his brother in Mishawaka promising to take care of him.

Pros. Jellison took a hand in the proceedings and read the statute on robbery providing for from 10 to 21 years, and then another statute which empowered the court, in cases where the defendant was under 21 years of age, to give a jail sentence, and then recommended that the ends of justice would be satisfactorily carried out by imposing a sentence of six months in the county jail on young Six. Such a sentence, said Jellison, would bring the time of the youth's release to warm weather, and he might have less incentive to continue in a life of crime if he did not worry so much over shelter and clothing.

Judge Klein stated that he would take the matter under advisement, as he wanted to be sure his decision, whatever it might be, was going to help the boy back to being a useful and honest citizen.

Cops Refuse to Vouch
For "Class" of "Hotel"

"South Bend will provide lodging for unfortunates who have no place to sleep, but it will not guarantee these unfortunates that they will find 'conditions' quite as good as they probably would in some of the higher-priced hotels."

This statement was issued by Walter Bader, acting captain of the local police department, who has charge of Chief of Police Klein's office in the evening.

Bader's statement was prompted by the remarks Thursday night made by a man, unusually well dressed, who appeared in his office looking for a place to sleep.

After Bader had informed the man that he could provide him with a place to sleep, the man inquired if the beds were free from bugs, and whether or not there was a reading and smoking room annexed.

Bader promptly replied that there were no beds in the lodging house, and that he could not guarantee that it was free from bugs or any other "annoyances."

He said that smoking would be permitted, and that copies of the latest "magazines" would probably be furnished.

LOCAL CREDIT MEN ADDRESSED BY DR.
GARDINER AT MEET

150 Persons Attend November Dinner of Credit Association.

About 150 people, including 75 credit men from Niles, Plymouth, Laporte, Mishawaka and South Bend, were present with their wives and friends at the November dinner of the South Bend Association of Credit Men, held last night in the Chamber of Commerce gymnasium.

F. E. McCarthy, professor of foreign commerce at Notre Dame university, spoke on "Consumers' Cooperation," in place of E. H. Blapham, credit man of Toledo, who was forced to cancel his engagement here because of business.

Dr. James L. Gardiner, pastor of St. Paul's Methodist Episcopal church of this city, spoke on "The Fundamentals of Prosperity."

Dr. Gardiner used as his theme Roger W. Babson's book, "The Fundamentals of Prosperity," in which he lists integrity, faith and vision, industry, co-operation and the development of the human soul, as the first of these principles.

Dr. Gardiner referred to the peace conference now being held in Washington and said: "You and I can thank God tonight for the return of America as the moral and spiritual leader of the world."

He is showing it at the Washington conference. The conference will not be worth a scrap of paper, however, unless the nations concerned are honest."

Faith and Vision.

In developing his second point Dr. Gardiner said that faith and vision have made America what it is today.

He said that all the great railroads and other industrial developments had come as a result of these qualities.

He then went on to explain that alone was the mother of invention.

"The first two fundamentals without industry will accomplish little," said the speaker. "Edison is undeniably a genius but that fact alone, without drudgery and hard work, would never have made him the man he is today."

The fourth and fifth fundamentals were developed along similar lines and the speaker gave some interesting examples to illustrate his point.

In his address Mr. McCarthy stressed the co-operative movement from its beginning up to the present time.

He said: "There is a growing conviction that the industry of the world should be carried on for the sake of the many and not for the betterment of the few."

Our present competitive system creates as much as it expends in distribution at the present time in this country, according to government statistics, two per cent of the people own more than the other 105,000,000."

He then explained the principles of a co-operative movement should follow and he also emphasized why so many stores in this country had failed.

C. K. Kuehne, president of the association, acted as toastmaster. It was announced that the state conference will be held at Fort Wayne, probably in February.

ALWARD SENTENCED
ON LIQUOR CHARGE*South Bend Man Fined $100
and Given Suspended Jail Sentence at Warsaw.

WARSAW, Ind., Nov. 17.—Clyde J. Alward of South Bend and Earl Gibson of Pierceton, tried before Mayor John A. Sloane in the city court were found guilty Thursday of transporting liquor in an automobile and were fined $100 each.

The case was begun at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon and was not completed until about 10 o'clock Thursday morning.

The two men were arrested by Chief of Police Charles W. Douglas. Soon after Alward and Gibson were taken into custody, Chief Douglas received telephonic orders from State Motor Vehicle Police Officer Otis of South Bend to hold Alward and Gibson. The former when arrested gave the name of Alward.

Otis became interested in the case when it was found that no license certificate was displayed in the automobile used by the men. He later discovered that the license plate numbers had been issued for a Chevrolet car instead of a Ford machine and at South Bend learned that the car had been purchased of the Northwestern Finance Co., of South Bend and that Alward had failed to make necessary payments to hold it.

Otis took possession of the car. He also has filed an affidavit against Alward for operating a car without a proper license.

Otis arrested George Mowery, who is connected with a Warsaw garage, on a charge of driving a motor truck without license plates.

Arraigned before Justice J. S. Cain, the accused pleaded guilty and was fined $1 and costs, in all $9.50.

CITES METHODS BY WHICH LEAGUE IS FIGHTING DISEASE

Mrs. Olney Presents Tuberculosis Statistics at Meeting of Kiwanians.

Methods, by which the Anti-Tuberculosis League of St. Joseph county is trying to curb the disease by reaching the source, the child under the age of 14, were clearly presented to members of the Kiwanis club yesterday noon at the weekly luncheon in the Rotary room at the Oliver hotel by Mrs. T. A. Olney, president of the league. Statistics presented by Mrs. Olney, showed that an appalling number of children in South Bend are afflicted with tuberculosis, that unless remedied may lead to contraction of tuberculosis.

She pointed out that Healthview hospital, the finest in the state, was a result of the work of the league, but that the prevention, the place in which unhealthy children, are helped back to strength through fresh air and treatment, was entirely incapable of handling the number of cases which would go there. Last year, she declared, more than 350 cases, which would need attention in the prevention of building up, but due to the lack of facilities only 33 of that number were able to undergo the treatments. So far the preventorium has been operating only six months out of the entire year but authorities of the league are making a great drive this year in which they hope that enough money may be gathered to permit the preventorium to operate during the entire year and to increase facilities to admit 10 instead of 30.

Many Undernourished.

As the result of an examination of school children by capable physicians, out of a total number of 1,368, 1428 were declared undernourished and 424 of this number in need of medical care. All of these 424 children should be allowed the privilege of several weeks of building up at the preventorium. Mrs. Olney said, but less than one-sixteenth of that number have been accommodated. Science has agreed, the speaker said, that the real cause of tuberculosis lies in the child and when this is cured, the disease will be overcome.

Pres. Hildebrand presided at the meeting which had an attendance of 115 members and several guests. Announcement was made that there would be no meeting next Thursday on Dec. 1, a grand inter-city meet would be held at night. Kiwanis and the city will be the hosts of the event. Pres. Hildebrand also announced that a committee would be appointed to take care of the sale of tuberculosis seals in the city.

The odds won the attendance contest with 61 as compared to the even's 54.

JOSEPH METCALF FOUND GUILTY OF
ROBBERY CHARGE*Is Convicted by Jury After 11
Month in Jail—Unnecessary Delay Denied.

Joseph Metcalf, colored, was found guilty of robbery by a jury in superior court No. 2 Thursday afternoon. The jury deliberated on the case about 10 minutes to reach verdict. The penalty for conviction on this charge is from 10 to 21 years in the penitentiary. The penalty, however, to which Metcalf will be liable is from 5 to 14 years, the heavier penalty having been adopted at the last session of the legislature, whereas at the time the crime was committed the lighter penalty was on the statute books.

The crime of which Metcalf was convicted, took place shortly after midnight, Jan. 25, 1920, Frank Mahalski, driver of a wagon for the Nelson Dairy, being held up at the point of a revolver on Washington av., near Studebaker st., and robbed of $45. Metcalf was arrested the following evening on identification by Mahalski, and since that time has been a prisoner in the county jail, being unable to secure bail, which was set at $3,000.

Case Bitterly Fought.

The case has been before Judge Klein in superior court No. 2 for three days and it was a bitterly fought case, Atty. G. A. Farabough appearing in it to assist the state in the prosecution.

In explaining the fact that Metcalf had been confined in the county jail for 11 months before being brought to trial, Pros. Floyd Jellison stated that the case had not been delayed long, inasmuch as an indictment was not returned by the grand jury until February, and the case was set for the May term of the superior court, but it was not tried at that session on account of the number waiting trial who were then in jail. Pros. Jellison said that the delay was only of one term, as the present session is the September session. Pros. Jellison also said that those who go out and commit crime must not feel that they are entitled to any special privilege such as immediate trial but that they must await their turn, and the fact that they may be in jail for several months before being tried is something that the individual brings on himself by committing a crime.
